Understood Better Each Day

The most successful business man is the one who knows every detail of his business and does not depend upon a gull for his success. Each day this is better understood. In no business is a detailed knowledge more essential than in the Building Trade. If you want an estimate on any work in my line, I'll be pleased to give you the benefit of my many years experience.

V. M. C. A. Service to Be Held at North Foster—Oil Engine Co. May Resume Business—W. Irving Bullard May Run for Warden.

Mrs. Henry Chatter of Boston is visiting local relatives.
Louis Wolard is recovering from pneumonia.
Nathan Short will go to Wallingford as manager of a stock farm.
Charles Thompson of Dayville has a new automobile.

To Be Married at Nantucket.

Invitations were received Thursday by Danielson friends to the wedding of Arthur Wayne Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Phillips of Providence, formerly of Danielson, and Miss Sarah Elizabeth Swain of Nantucket, Mass. The marriage is to take place at the Methodist Episcopal church, Nantucket, Wednesday, April 21.

Y. M. C. A. Service at North Foster.—A service under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association is to be held Sunday afternoon at the North Foster Baptist church. A large party of members will leave Danielson on the Providence car at 1.40. W. Irving Bullard will make the address at the service, speaking on Easter and Immortality. The musical part of the programme will include the following numbers: Violin duet, Clayton Chase and Earl Wood; vocal duet, Miss Helen L. Bailey and Frank J. G. Bailey; cornet and trombone duet, Percy Hammond and E. Lofgren.

A Day of Wind and Dust.

What the wind storm did in various western cities was feebly imitated in Danielson, yet the velocity of the gale as it swept over this section during Thursday was remarkable in its ferocity. Clouds of dust swished and swirled and sifted over everybody and everything. There were times during the day when the business section was obscured in dust and the Easter shoppers battling against the ill natured weather conditions might be excused for their exasperation. The street sprinkler that moves slowly up and down the street in fair weather and foul, once it is put on the job, is still among the missing signs of spring. The open season on street sprinkling has not yet arrived.

OIL ENGINE COMPANY

May Be Able to Arrange Financial Matters So as to Resume Business.

Danielson may not lose the oil engine industry after all; at least there is a chance of the concern resuming business here, according to a story that was told Thursday to the effect that the International Oil Engine company, now in the hands of a receiver, will try and make as liberal a settlement as possible with creditors, and later reorganize and do business under the name of the American Oil Engine company. It is known that General Manager W. A. Hatch of the international company has expended much effort since the beginning of the receivership in an endeavor to extricate the company from financial difficulties; and, according to the rumor, he has so far succeeded as to secure under a special arrangement, sufficient capital to permit the company to resume business. The receiver's sale of the engine company's unencumbered property is fixed for tomorrow (Saturday) and developments—if any are to be expected—will probably come at that time. Further in the story of the probabilities, it is claimed that Mr. Robinson of New York, who holds a mortgage on the greater part of the machinery, has agreed to transfer his mortgage to others willing to assume it, and that the properties offered for sale Saturday will be bid upon for the engine company. It is said that the hope of resumption and the future success of the old engine company is based on the fact that their new two-cylinder engine, which is an improvement over their present type of engine, was nearly complete when the company ceased to exist. The new engine, and that as soon as it can be placed on the market it should prove a big seller, and insure the success of its builders.

A POSSIBLE CANDIDATE.

W. Irving Bullard Might Accept Nomination for Warden.

Conditionally W. Irving Bullard vice president of the Jacobs Manufacturing company, is a receiver's candidate for the office of warden of Danielson. During the weeks that have preceded the time of nomination Mr. Bullard has refrained from entering the field as a candidate for the place, but on the eve of the caucus he has conditionally reconsidered his decision. Mr. Bullard if tendered the nomination may accept the candidacy as a public duty but in this case only with the understanding that the coming administration be one practically agreed to the practice of strict economy in the management of the affairs of the borough and one with the borough burgesses serving on the old salary basis and fully agreeable to assume the duty of solving all borough problems that may arise, this without criticism of any person or past events. Mr. Bullard is a republican and a member of the board of relief has rendered service of marked value to the town.

Bad Forest Fire at North Sterling.
A forest fire at North Sterling on Thursday assumed such proportions at one time that it threatened nearby dwellings in its onward sweep and alarmed the neighborhood in the vicinity of the Post Office. The prevailing high wind made the battle against the flames a hard one, but it was under control early in the afternoon.

Horse 30 Years Old Drops Dead.

A horse owned by Mrs. Frederick Princeton fell dead in a field in the town one day this week. The animal had been driven a comparatively short distance on a trip after arbutus and died practically without warning. The animal was about 30 years old.

Perhaps from Paokerville?

Members of the Putnam Social and Athletic club are wondering who sent out the fake news story to a Boston paper stating that Fred Sydney was because of an injured hand, could not keep his engagement in this city. The belief is the story was sent out from some other town than Putnam.

Social Afternoon at Congregational Chapel.

The chapel was converted into a green parlor by the use of green screens and parlor furniture, with decorations of purple and white. The cake table, decorated in white and purple, was in charge of Mrs. Alton, Mrs. Dwyer, Mrs. F. E. Clarke and Mrs. Torrey.

Aprons were sold from a purple and white table by Mrs. L. O. Williams and Mrs. Ralph Kenyon, while Mrs. W. H. Mansfield and Mrs. W. E. Holmes had charge of the rug table.

Tea and wafers were served during the entire afternoon from an attractive table decorated in purple and white, with white candles, which added greatly to the sociability of the affair. The tea was in charge of Miss S. Elizabeth Clarke, president of the circle, Mrs. W. J. Bartlett, Mrs. Frank Thayer, Miss Harriett Brown and Miss Bessie Champlin. Mrs. G. E. Shaw and Mrs. S. A. Helen Hancock, formerly in James K. Hackett's company, has been engaged for the role of Amy de Branscombe, one of the stranded chorus girls in Roy McCordell's play, "The Gay Life."

Dr. Hamilton Wright, one of the American delegates to the international opium conference recently held at Shanghai, has passed through St. Petersburg on his way back to the United States.

Governor Fernald of Maine is opposed to making the punishment for kidnapping equal to that for murder, as proposed by some, lest offenders might kill the victim or have apprehension with the child in their possession.

Mrs. Kate Douglas Wigging has completed a new story, which will be published next season. According to her usual custom she sails from New York at the end of the month to spend the spring and early summer in Great Britain.

Queen Maud of Norway keeps a scrap book bearing the inscription on the cover, "Things We Have Not Said and Done," and in which she has pasted newspaper cuttings giving stories about herself and her husband which have their foundation only in the imagination of enterprising journalists.

A position as a nurse to the lepers living at the state colony on Penikese island has been given to Mrs. Emma E. Thomas of Upton, at her own request. Her reason for wanting to go to the island is that Archie Thomas, the boy who was sent to the colony a few days ago, is her only son. She has no other relatives.

Miss Kate Gilmour, stewardess of the Sardinia, which was destroyed by fire a short time ago at Malta, is the only woman who ever received a Lloyd's medal for life saving at sea. Miss Gilmour refused positively to quit the ship until all the women and children had been taken off. By her coolness and courage many lives were saved that might otherwise have been lost.

Miss P. Stella Michelson, a young attorney at law, of Los Angeles, Cal., has decided to undertake the work of assisting William R. George in establishing George Junior republics in every part of the country. She is said to be independently wealthy. She will first go to Greenville, N. Dr. Sven Hedin, the famous traveler and explorer, who has returned to civilization after two years in Tibet, had some terrible experiences during a former journey through the eastern part of the world. He has told how, owing to the high altitudes at which he and his party traveled, that to unfurl one's coat meant acute pain and tension to an overwrought heart, which literally was at the point of breaking.

Congressman E. D. Crumpacker of Indiana, who has appeared as Chairman Payne's principal opponent in the defense of the new tariff bill in the house, is said to be really the most pronounced downward revisionist upon the majority side of the committee. He is, however, something of a stickler for regularity and will probably feel in duty bound to stand by the committee's action and defend its report.

Princess Eleanor Lazarevich of Serbia, in a recent address in this country, said that in Serbia all the professions, excepting law, are open to women, as are practically all the places in the public service. Women are employed by the government in almost all capacities, even as civil engineers. Women officeholders are not forbidden to marry, but if they wish to remain in the service they must marry a man who is also in it.
